

Associate Labour & Employment Lawyer in Toronto (2 – 6 years)

Mathews Dinsdale, Canada's only coast-to-coast management-side labour and employment law firm, is seeking an experienced associate to join our Toronto team. The successful candidate will have 2 to 6 years of experience advising employers on workplace law matters. Experience in employment litigation, human rights matters, Labour Relations Board and arbitration proceedings, occupational health and safety prosecutions, Ministry of Labour complaints, reviewing and revising employment-related agreements/policies/procedures and advising employers on day-to-day management of employment-related issues will be considered an asset for this role. The preferred candidate will have strong academic qualifications, will be knowledgeable of employment-related legislation, and have a minimum of 2 years experience in labour and employment law.

Mathews Dinsdale's focus is workplace law and our Firm has a national practice that is unmatched. With seven offices and over six decades of legal and consulting experience, our Firm delivers strategic advice, practical solutions and immediate crisis management, both locally and nationally. We have been repeatedly recognized by Canadian Lawyer magazine as one of the Top 10 Labour and Employment Law boutiques in Canada. Many of our lawyers have also been recognized as leading practitioners in labour relations, employment law and occupational health and safety law by publications such as Chambers, Lexpert and Best Lawyers in Canada.

Mathews Dinsdale provides excellent learning and development opportunities. We also provide a supportive environment for associates. This is a unique opportunity to join a collegial and leading group of lawyers in our Toronto office. The successful candidate will work closely with leading lawyers from across the Country and be part of a diverse team providing legal advice and representation to a broad range of employers, in both the public and private sectors.
